

Steer drivers towards the right road.

Set, maintain, and enforce driving standards with decades of international testing expertise.

As an organisation focused on road safety, you already know the driver testing industry is more complex than it appears. It involves establishing driving standards, educating drivers on the rules of the road (and how those rules differ from place to place), improving road safety, assessing individual driver knowledge and skills, and more.

At Pearson VUE, we understand that too.

And that's why we're the ideal partner for your organisation's driving theory test needs. Count on us for:

- Convenience. When learners are distributed across a wide geographic area, we can deliver theory exams with ease thanks to our vast test centre network.
- Flexibility. Complex and strict regulatory requirements? We're primed to work with your unique infrastructure and operational model.
- Expertise. Road safety rules are diverse and subject to change. Our exam development experts can craft a theory test that meets your exact needs — now and into the future.
- Global know-how. International licensing requirements? No problem. Our years of experience with clients around the globe means we're familiar with the nuances of different countries and jurisdictions.
- Experience. Over the past 20 years we've helped deliver more than 35 million driving theory exams.

The power of computer-based testing for driving theory exams

With technological advancements in vehicles and a greater focus on road safety, government and transportation divisions are increasingly choosing computer-based testing to measure driver knowledge, awareness, and competence, all while providing test-takers with a professional testing experience and convenience.

Computer-based testing (CBT) from Pearson VUE is much more than converting a traditional paper-and-pencil exam. CBT promotes efficient exam delivery, increased candidate reach with on-demand testing, and rigorous security protocols to keep your exam programme safe. Plus, you can implement a variety of test question types, such as scenario-based, multiple-choice, or even video-based questions.

Customised testing for your unique needs

Just like your individual learners, your organisation is unique. Increasing the frequency of theory testing? Dealing with a blend of local and international drivers? Facing complex regulatory standards?

We know it's challenging. And that's why we never take a one-size-fits-all approach. We'll consider your distinct circumstances and develop a testing programme focused on your specific needs and goals. So you get a flexible, secure, and truly digital testing experience, backed by our global test development and delivery expertise.

Over the past 20 years we've helped deliver more than 35 million driving theory exams.
